CRAIG CASE TODAY

LAWYERS COMMENCE ARGUMENTS ABOUT 3 O'CLOCK.

ONE WITNESS FOR STATE

Everett Bradshaw Told of the Alleged Offense—Craig Witnesses Denied He gave Away Whiskey.

The case of George Craig on a charge of violating the local option law, was on trial in circuit court today and after the examination of the main prosecuting witness, Everett Bradshaw, the defendant's attorney, Shinabargar, Blagg & Sillison, filed a demurrer, contending that no offense was committed under the local option law in giving away a drink during a social visit or intercourse unless there be some designs, pecuniary profit or gain in so doing.

Prosecuting Attorney Sawyers argued for the state that the cases read by the defense were not applicable to this case and that the defendant, Craig, and his party were on a political mission at the time.

The court overruled the demurrer.

Everett Bradshaw on the stand told of Craig, Guy Gray, John Workman and Jim Palmer, colored, in a Ford car stopping to talk to Joe Workman and himself, who were hauling lumber for a bridge in the Toad Hollow vicinity, near Clearmont. The witness said Joe Workman inquired if the party had any drinking whiskey and that Guy Gray said "Come and see for yourself," and whereupon Joe Workman went over to the car and George Craig handed Workman a bottle of whiskey and that Workman took a drink. Bradshaw testified that he was offered a drink but refused as he was not a drinking man. Bradshaw told what brand of whiskey was offered. The witness said the party were out working for John Dowden, then a candidate for sheriff.

As the alleged offense took place only a few before election, many charges of it being done for political reasons were made at that time. Mr. Bradshaw stated on the witness stand that Elmer Moberly, the Democratic candidate for sheriff, had never talked to him about it neither had he, Bradshaw, talked to Moberly relative to the matter.

E. E. Williams, James B. Robinson, Mayor Arthur S. Robey, S. G. Gillam and S. H. Kemp were character witnesses for Craig.

Guy Gray, a member of the party, said he was out working for John Dowden and denied that Craig offer-

REPORT NOT CONFIRMED

Brazilian Ministry of Marines Can Find No Evidence of Sinking of German Raider.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Rio De Janiero, Jan .23.—It was announced by the Brazilian Ministry of Marines today that there was no confirmation of the Pernambuco report that a German raider had been sunk off the Brazilian coast by the British cruiser Glasgow. It was reported from Montevideo that a steamship believed to be a German auxiliary cruiser had been seen off Bahia, Argentina, steaming southward at full speed. If the report were true, it is possible that the cruiser was trying to escape into the Pacific. News from Marahano says that four merchantmen were seen cruising together in the Atlantic, whether captive or cruising together for protection, is not known.

COMPANION IS INJURED

George Boatman's Leg Broken In Two Places in Same Accident Which Happened This Morning.

Sam Broyles, 21 years old, of Hopkins, was killed and George Boatman, 43 years old, also of Hopkins was injured when a tree which they were felling, this morning caught them before they could get out of the way.

Mr. Broyles and Mr. Boatman were engaged in procuring lumber for a firm shipping logs out of Hopkins. They were cutting walnut logs on the Mord Wilson farm, about 7 miles southeast of Hopkins. When one of the large trees started to fall they failed to get out of the way. Mr. Broyles was internally injured and died while being taken to Sheridan. One of Mr. Boatman's legs was broken in two places.

Mr. Broyles is the son of Mrs. Nora Broyles of Hopkins. He is also survived by two brothers, John and "Jenks" Broyles at Hopkins, by a brother, Ernest, in Kansas City and a sister, Mrs. Frank Bonham of Hopkins.

Mr. Boatman has a sister, Mrs. Isaac Mobley living at Hopkins. His son, Jesse Boatman, lives in Maryville.

MORE ARTILLERY DUELS

Increased Violence In Fighting Along the Dvina — Bavarians Make Raid on British Trenches.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—Artillery duels of increased violence are taking place along the Dvina River on the eastern front, according to the war office reports. Northwest of Ammentier, on the Franco-Belgian frontier reconnoitering detachments of Bavarians entered the British trenches and returned with a number of prisoners and machine guns.

The English advance on the western front has been repulsed, because all of their artillery activity has been hindered by a deep fog. The German allies are again driving forward toward Russia on the northern boundary of the Rumanian province of Dobrudja. It is announced that the Bulgars have forced a crossing at the southern end of the Danube, and have held the northern bank against all counter attacks. Artillery activity is increasing in the Carpathians.

BAPTIST RECEPTION

CONGREGATION ASSEMBLES TO HONOR REV. AND MRS. WILES.

FRUIT SHOWER GIVEN

Mention Also Made of Departure of Davis, Meek, Andrews, and Hempstead Families.

A large crowd attended the reception given at the parlors of the Baptist church last night in honor of Rev. and Mrs. T. H. Wiles. The parlors were made beautiful with ferns and potted plants, and bright colored carnations centered the many individual tables throughout the rooms. The Rev. and Mrs. Wiles received the guests as they arrived. Prof. E. L. Harrington in behalf of the program committee, together with Mrs. Eugene Ogden and Mrs. W. A. Burris, then took charge of the program. Music was furnished by the church orchestra and afterward Prof. Harrington gave a welcoming address to which Rev. Wiles gave a hearty response. Senator Craig gave an impressive talk on the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davis, for their new home in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Davis will be greatly missed in the church circles of which they were very prominent, Mr. Davis being superintendent of the Sunday School. Mr. Davis responded in an interesting way to Senator Craig's talk.

Dr. Karl Malotte spoke in behalf of Lee Meek who leaves soon with his parents to make his home in Colorado. Mr. Meek, although comparatively young, was president of the B. P. Y. U., and also secretary of the Sunday School and was very successful in that work.

An address was made by Professor Harrington in regard to the departure of Mr. G. W. Hempstead and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Andrews and family. Following this was a song, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," after which was a reading, "The Whistling Boy," by Miss Elizabeth Sobbing. Mr. Wagers, Mr. Henderson, Mr. Bird and Mr. Wilkerson, members of the Normal quartette, sang, and this was followed by a piano duet by Misses Holmes and Ozenberger. Mrs. Ray Davis sang a beautiful and impressive solo with Miss Dorothy McDonald at the piano.

Mrs. G. B. Holmes in behalf of the women of the church presented Mrs. Wiles with a shower of fruit, preserves and pickles making a very appropriate presentation speech.

The orchestra cibsed the program with music.

After the program a social session was held and most elaborate refreshments were served. Mrs. LeGrand Gann and Mrs. Karl Malotte presided at the serving tables and were assisted in serving by Mrs. Speirs and Mrs. Will Everhart and a bevy of young girls.

Here are some of the important cuts in the amounts asked by the institutions:

School for the blind, from $161,250 to $103,250; sanitarium at Mount Vernon, from $521,000 to $264,600; Rolla School of Mines, from $256,750 to $214,750; colony for feeble minded, from $436,250 to $356,050; board of agriculture, from $209,650 to $187,000; state fair, from $115,850 to $79,350; deaf and dumb institute, from $381,300 to $294,900; Warrensburg Normal, from $187,479 to $105,782; Springfield Normal from $326,000 to $203,500; Cape Girardeau Normal from $286,916 to $227,916; Kirksville Normal, from $221,748 to $219,748; Confederate Home from $128,740 to $115,150; industrial home for incorrigible negro girls, from $215,553 to $116,003.

LONDON JOURNALS STILL CONSIDERING WILSON'S DOCUMENT.

WILL OCCASION DEBATE

Senate Considers Taking Day Off to Discuss President's Peace Note Europe Received It Week Ago.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, Jan. 23.—Early editions of London papers today adopted a cautious tone in commenting on Wilson's speech. It was generally agreed that the document called for the deepest analysis before its meaning could be determined. Some editorials there note praise; others are disposed to think that he spoke too soon.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The president's address to the senate yesterday will be subject to a free-for-all debate tomorrow. This was assured when Senator Cummins introduced a resolution to set aside January 29 for a general debate on the president's peace proposition. Senator Stone objected to this and demanded that it be given immediate consideration.

The Cummins resolution provides that each be allowed to speak for an hour on the peace address. Senator Stone objected to this and said that to set aside a week merely to hear speeches was out of the question when there was so much to do.

Awaiting Real Effects.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—With the president's astounding statement now known all over the world, the administration today is "sitting tight" to know what the real effect is going to be.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The address President Wilson made to the Senate yesterday was sent to American diplomats in the belligerent countries last Monday, two days before the United States received the notes from Arthur J. Balfour, Great Britain's secretary of state for foreign affairs, supplementing the Entente reply to Mr. Wilson's peace note, and the same day that the German foreign minister, Dr. Alfred Zimmerman, declared it was impossible for the Central Powers to openly lay down their terms.

An Open Message.

The President's address was intended as an open message to the world of the conditions under which he would

POLITICAL NOTES.

At a meeting of the Democratic state committee held in Jefferson City last week a resolution was adopted providing for the establishment of permanent Democratic headquarters in the State Capitol. Doc. Brydon, was selected to have charge of the work of preliminary organization for the campaign of 1918.

Judge Lamm probably realizes now that one is never too old to learn. He has allowed himself to be used by Jep Howe and Otto Stifel, discredited Republican politicians in St. Louis, to pull their chestnuts out of the fire, and has suffered accordingly in the public esteem in which he was formerly held.

Th Missouri Legislature has made a good start. It is Democratic in both branches and has outlined a thorough progressive and practical program.

Governor Gardner was inaugurated in the open, emblematic of the policy of his administration. He promises to take the people of the State entirely into his confidence in forming matters of legislation.

The four corner stones of the Gardner administration are to be, more revenue, better schools, better roads and better community life.

A certain millionaire brewer of St. Louis who backed the candidacy of Judge Lamm and bet a large sum upon his election, has learned anew the adage that "experience is a severe and expensive teacher."

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

St. Joseph Grain Exchange Remembers the Late B. Raleigh Martin With Written Resolutions.

The following resolutions of respect were adopted by the St. Joseph Grain Exchange in memory of the late B. Raleigh Martin, who died in Chicago last Monday:

Whereas, The death of B. Raleigh Martin removes from our midst an able champion of St. Joseph's commercial advancement, and

Whereas, His activity and helpful assistance will be a distinct loss to this community and particularly to this organization, and

Whereas, While not a member of or materially interested in this association, he has always given generously and freely of his time and talent, whenever called upon, and,

Whereas, His splendid oratory and kindly personality has so greatly helped us on many occasions, now, therefore,

Be it Resolved, That these resolutions of respect be entered upon the records of the St. Joseph Grain Exchange and that a transcript thereof be furnished to his family and also published in the St. Joseph daily papers.

Respectfully,

SOUTH TO BUY OUR STOCK

Eradication of Tick Gives Missouri Breeders New Market for Fine Herds of Pure Bred Cattle.

Northwest Missouri breeders of fine stock are looking with interest at the development of live stock interest in the south and are getting ready to meet the demand that is springing up there for purebred cattle.

The big factor in increasing the live stock industry in the south is, of course, the fact that diversified farming is taking the place of the one-crop system that relied solely on cotton for its profits and suffered periodically with the slump in the cotton market or the failure of the crops.

But it was not until the tick was eradicated and the losses from Texas fever were controlled, that the southern planter felt justified in going in heavily for purebred cattle and the consequent chances for heavy losses when the tick got in its work. But that menace has been largely removed now, and the southern planter can turn live stock man without this danger.

Missouri with its fine herds of Herefords, Shorthorns, and Aberdeen-Anguses, is especially interested in this new market for its surplus stock, and the south already, having heard of the fame of these big herds, is looking toward them as a source of cattle for the foundation of its own herds.

WILSON HOLDS AGE RECORD

President Is Oldest Executive Since Inauguration of Buchanan in 1857 —Roosevelt Youngest President.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Jan. 22. — President Wilson is the oldest executive of the United States for the last sixty years. When he is inaugurated for the second time March 5, he will be 60 years old, a span of years that no president has crossed since the inauguration of Buchanan in 1857.

Incidentally, the president is one of the six oldest executives ever in the White House. Previous to 1861 the men chosen to hold the reins of the government generally reached a late period in life before their election. John Adams was 61 when inaugurated in 1797; Jackson also was 61 when first inaugurated in 1829. Benjamin Harrison was the oldest man ever chosen for the presidency, being 68 at the time of his inauguration in 1841. Taylor was 64 and Buchanan 65 respectively, when they were inaugurated.

Aside from these all presidents have been younger than Woodrow Wilson when entering the White House. This has been particularly noticeable in the last fifty years, when all have been comparatively young. Theodore Roosevelt was the youngest president ever inaugurated in this country, being 42 when he took office.

Obituary.

Mrs. Mary Rebecca Lipzenburge Minard was born in Ohio, August 12, 1851, and died at 3:55 p. m., January 21, 1917, at the Sisters' Hospital in St. Joseph, after a lingering illness of cancerous growth which was caused by a crushed leg received when a young girl. Her condition was serious only a short time before her death. At the time of her death she was 69 years, 3 months and 9 days old.

She was married to James F. Minard, January 13, 1877 at Iowa City, Ia., and to this union were born William Jay of Kansas City and Frank F., of Houston, Tex., both of whom were with her at the time of her death.

Mr. and Mrs. Minard have lived in Missouri for thirty-seven years and spent twenty-nine years of that time in Nodaway county.

ENGLISH CUSTOMS

PEOPLE CALL FORD AUTOMOBILE "FLYING BEDSTEAD."

EVERY STREAM A RIVER

Outside and Inside of Street Cars and Busses Usually Covered With All Kinds of Advertisement.

(Vernon Nash)

Ozford:— Folks over here don't know what is meant by a "tin lizzie," but just mention a "flying bedstead," and they get you. Haven't heard the word "gasoline" since I landed. It is "motor spirit" or petrol. Steam engine trucks are more common than gas or electric. And they carry bigger loads than a railway car, usually having a large trailer behind also.

Neither have I seen an American type of milk wagon or milk bottle. Usually it is a milkmaid pushing a hand cart with two milk cans in it from which she fills the cups which maids bring to the doors. The vast majority of all horse-drawn vehicles are two-wheeled carts and the horses are stocky Shetlands.

Saloons, Not Liquor Stores.

Saloons never mean liquor stores. Somebody's arms as The King's Arms, The Prince of Wales' Arms, or the Duke's Arms, is the usual name for a public house or an inn serving drinks. It means "Rustication," which is Oxonian for "Expulsion," to be found in a public bar. But the student may have all the liquor he pleases in his own room and most of the colleges serve it as a part of the evening meal. I am pleased to say that Oriel followed the example of the King and went on the water wagon.

"I'm sorry," or just "Sorry," is the usual expression for "excuse me." "Beg Pardon," is used only to mean that a hearer has not understood what was said. "Excuse me," is used only to withdraw from a room. If we ask an English student to pass something at the table he will say, "Sorry," meaning that he is mortified not to have noticed that you neded some of the article.

Butter Not on Dinner Menu.

Butter is never served with dinner, which is the evening meal, and the only one eaten in common. The bread is served in great, repulsive chunks about two cubic inches in size. Their table manners would be considered very rude in America. Their favorite desert is a compote which Miller, of Kansas, described as a liquid sandwich. It is always attacked with a fork in one hand and a large spoon in the other.

"I can't stand plain water and plain women," is a common vaudeville witicism. The English believe the former but not the latter. Every American will swear that according tb his judgment, he has not seen a girl or woman yet who would even be called pretty, much less beautiful. As for the water, the English seem to think that no one wants to drink it. The trains have no water coolers. One never sees a public drinking fountain and water is seldom served with meals unless asked for.

Sanitation Neglected.

Prevention of cruelty to animals is well enforced but none of the usual provisions for man's safety are seen. Roller towels are everywhere and flies would take the country, were it not for the fact that it is kept so clean that they have no chance to breed in any quantities. One American bought a fly-swatter with him and it was as much of a curiosity as a pair of Chinese chopsticks at home. They never heard of fly paper.

Few men wear belts but the tailors at Oxford have learned the art of belt loops and tight-top trousers from Americans. The word "pants," is unknown as meaning trousers. When the wearing of a dress suit made suspenders necessary last week, I went into a shop to buy some. I asked for suspenders and was shown sock supporters, braces for the back, and various other kinds of bodily harness in turn. Finally I had to use signs as much as if in Russia. "Oh, you mean braces," he said, and I had learned the English for "galluses."

Quill Pens Used.

Quill pens are still used very generally over the University. Only letters leaving the country are censored. Few pictures or post cards are permitted to get by. Full value is given in a book of stamps because ads of every kind are scattered through the little book. The post office is not inclosed as in America but has merely a wire railing between the clerks and the patrons.

The outside and inside of street cars and busses, double-deckers usually are always covered with the ads. Yet America is too commercial! One of the most common of these signs is for pills, reading, "Hull's Helpers for Healthy Homes." Tickets read, "available" to a certain point. No stream in this country seems too small to be called a river. The Thames at Oxford is only thirty feet wide. It is called the Isis here although it is the Thames both above and below the city.

Tires Are "Tyres."

Tires are "tyres," and I was really glad when one blew out recently as it gave us this gem on the direction for repairs: "When this gum is tacky enough, the two surfaces of rubber will amalgamate." No English bicycles have the coaster brake but are stopped by rubber pads on each side of the steel rims being applied from the handlebars. Two and three speed machines are common, a little lever on the cross bar shifting the gears in the rear axle. There are at least half as many bicycles in Oxford as there are persons.

British brakemen on passenger trains are called guards. When a typical English accent called out of a window: "Oh, Guard, Guard," we discovered a new and choice expletive. It sounded for all the world as if the person were calling upon the Deity.

probably be the largest in the history of the High School. Thirty-three students are enrolled.

The total enrollment in the public schools is approximately 920 of 925, which is a slight increase over last year. An innovation in the grammar school curriculum is the offering of manual training and sewing to the boys and girls of the eighth grade. The work will be under the direction of Miss Carpenter and Mrs. Schultz of the High School. This is something that has not been done for some years, and the organiaztion of the classes will be an event looked forward to with interest by the pupils concerned.

An interesting fact in connection with the grades made by the High School students was given by J. M. McDonald, superintendent of schools. Each student in High School averages four subjects and with 220 students approximately 880 grades are given. Of these 880 grades, 46 failing grades, 24 conditions and 66 E's for excellent were given. Only 5 per cent of the total grades given were failures, which is considered a normal condition by the leading educators.

MAY RAISE MOTOR CAR TAX

Missouri Senate Bill by Senator Buford Would Give More Money For Good Roads Work.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Jefferson City, Jan. 23.—The administration motor car bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Buford of Reynolds county and will be presented in the House this week. The main feature of this measure is the increase it provides in fees for registering motor cars with the secretary of state. In many instances these are doubled. Every motor cycle must pay $5 a year. Electrics must pay $5 a year and be subjected to a fee of forty cents for each horsepower. All other motor cars, except electrics, shall pay forty cents a horsepower, or fraction thereof. Motor cars other than those using pneumatic tires, and used for commercial purposes, shall pay at the rate of forty cents a horsepower and these additional fees: Weighing under 4,000 pounds, $5; weighing 6,000 pounds and under 10,000, unloaded, $15; weighing 10,000 pounds and under 20,000 pounds, unloaded, $20.

For all motor vehicles not enumerated, $5. The chauffeur's license remains at the old fee, $1.50.

All the moneys arising from the motor car fees are to go to the good roads fund.

MEAT ON MISSOURI FARMS

State Board of Agriculture Finds That Members of Farm Family Consume A Hog Each, Annually.

Replies made to the Missouri State Board of Agriculture as to the amount of meat consumed by the average farm family show that 884 pounds of pork are consumed annually. With 5.6 persons as an average family, this is approximately 158 pounds per person—a hog to a man. In order to encourage a larger number of farmers to make a sufficient supply of meat for their own use, and possibly to have some to sell, the Board of Agriculture established the Missouri Farmers' Ham and Bacon Show. The Fifth annual show, recently held, was most successful. All sections of the state were represented in the entries, and the meat was of a very superior quality. A representative of the United States Department of Agriculture has just asked for detailed information as to how the Missouri Show is conducted. Similar inquiries have come from other states. Evidently, the plan of the farmer "living at home," is proving popular.

urge the United States to enter a world federation to guarantee peace. Not until word had been received from the diplomats abroad that the copy had been received did President Wilson arrange to make the address to the Senate.

There is nothing in the address, or in the instructions accompanying its presentation that will of itself necessitate an answer, according to the administration view, but some response nevertheless is expected from both groups of belligerents.

A "Leak" Was Feared.

Confidential information that the Entente reply to President Wilson bad convinced Germany that another step by her would be unwise, convinced American officials that unless the United States gave a further opening the whole peace movement would come to an end. The address to the Senate was taken as a possible means of avoiding that result.

Fear of a "leak" surrounding the sending of the address abroad prompted such secrecy as has seldom been equaled in the state department. Only President Wilson, Secretary Lansing and the men who transmitted it are known definitely to have been aware of it.

Both French and British ambassadors denied any knowledge of its existence even after it had been delivered.

What They Expect.

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing anticipate the present move will provoke indignation in the foreign press, much as was the case with the President's original note of December 18. They feel that in a statement of position as full as the President's, both sides may feel they have been unjustly attacked, and as a result they look for a bitter outburst in the more violent press.

The greatest confidence is felt here however, that the belligerent peoples want peace, and that the chief obstacle to an early peace is the uncertainty as to whether that peace will be permanent. It is believed that as soon as people abroad see in the American action a possible means of making that peace permanent, any first reaction to the address will disappear, and serious and friendly discussion of it will follow as followed the original peace note.

It Amazed Washington.

The effect of the President's address here was to leave congress, all official quarters and the foreign diplomats amazed and bewildered. Immediately there arose a sharp division of opinion over the propriety as well as the substance of the President's proposal.

"Startling," "Staggering," "Astounding;" "The noblest utterance that has fallen from human lips since the Declaration of Independence," were among the expressions of senators.

FOR GAME COMMISSIONER

Alexander Gibb, Treasurer of Atchison County, is Candidate for Appointment to that Office.

The friends of Alexander Gibb are pleased to hear that he is out for Game and Fish Commissioner. Mr. Gibb is treasurer of Atchison County.

No better man could be named for the place. Governor Gardner has drawn to himself the hearts of thousands of people by the announced determination to consult only the good of the service in making appointments. If he shall adhere to that rule in selecting a Game and Fish Commissioner it is our confident prediction that Gibb will be the man. For about ten years he has been the treasurer of Atchison county, and has shown himself to be capable, honest and efficient. He has inherited the traits of his Scotch-Irish ancestry. He is an earnest, thorough-going, industrious man. We wish him success.

FINGER PRINTS AID

They Help Greatly In the Solution of Crime.

EXCHANGE SYSTEM FOUNDED.

New York City Has More Than 190,000 Impressions—Bureau In Charge of Inspector Faurot—Every Human Being Has a Distinct and Individual Mark.

New York.—The work of the bureau of criminal identification at police headquarters has been greatly enlarged and brought up to date. This is especially true of the finger print department, which today is recognized by the police as the best and surest method of making criminal identifications. Although the Bertillon system is still in use by the department, it has to a great extent been superseded by the finger print system.

The department has a collection of more than 190,000 finger impressions of individuals. These prints came from all over the United States, Canada and from many European cities. Commissioner Woods some time ago sent notices to the police headquarters of every city in the country suggesting that copies of their finger prints be forwarded here. In the notices it was stated that the department possesses a very large collection of records of criminals who could be located only by means of finger prints; that these came from all over the world and that if its records were forwarded the department would offer its finger print service to them without expense. In many cases these notices were sent to the sheriffs of what is popularly known as "one horse towns." In this manner the department's finger print bureau has become a sort of clearing house for other police departments in the country. The bureau is in charge of Inspector Joseph A. Faurot.

The impressions are classified according to "whirls," "loops," "arches" or "deltas." The prints are carefully filed and indexed according to their characteristics. In a large room in the basement of headquarters the actual finger prints are taken. Printer's ink is spread by a roller on the surface of a glass table. The ink is smeared on the fingers of the prisoner, and the finger impressions are then taken down on paper. All of the fingers of both hands of the prisoner are taken.

The police after exhaustive studies have been able to learn much about finger prints. The system is based on the fact that every human being has a distinct and individual impression which differs from that of any other person. It has been ably demonstrated that no two finger prints are alike.

Grandmother a Pupil.

Bakersfield, Cal.—Mrs. Mary Brundage, the seventy-five-year-old widow of the late Superior Judge Bernard Brundage, a pioneer of Kern county, was registered as freshman in the Kern county high school and will study the Spanish language. Mrs. Brundage has several grandchildren attending the high school at which she is registered.

EGGS TOO HIGH EVEN FOR A JUGGLING ACT

Chicago.—A magician who does the "famous egg trick" in vaudeville packed his trunks and walked out of the bill at a Chicago continuous show. The high price of eggs drove him to it. The illusionist breaks eighteen eggs at every performance. As long as he was "doing two a day" it wasn't so bad. But when he learned he had to appear at seven daily turns he counted up and found that at the present price of eggs he would owe himself money at the end of the week.

ALBERT T. PATRICK TO WED FOR SECOND TIME

Rich Girl to Become Noted Former Prisoner's Bride.

Tulsa, Okla. — Albert T. Patrick, wealthy oil man, who was sentenced three times to die in Sing Sing prison on a murder charge, announced here his engagement to Miss Mildred West, daughter of a Tulsa oil operator. They will be married in June.

Albert T. Patrick was pardoned by Governor Dix of New York on Nov. 28, 1912, after ten years in prison, following his conviction for the murder of William Marsh Rice, a Texas millionaire, in New York city. He was the chief beneficiary under the will of Rice. Sentenced to die three times, the legal fight he made for freedom was one of the most remarkable in the criminal annals of the country.

When Patrick was convicted in March, 1902, Mrs. Addie M. Francis, to whom he was engaged, proved her faith in him by marrying him in the Tombs prison in New York. She worked tirelessly from that time until he was freed to interest prominent men in his behalf, and her brother, John T. Milliken of St. Louis, spent a fortune to gain Patrick's liberty.

For ten years Mrs. Patrick lived within sight of the walls of Sing Sing that she could be near her husband and comfort him. The day after he was pardoned they began their long delayed honeymoon, going first to St. Louis and later to Tulsa. A year later Mrs. Patrick, worn out by years of nervous strain, died.

TEACHER FAILS TRYING TO FORCE AN APOLOGY

Department of Education Holds Student Cannot Be Made to Admit Wrong.

Trenton, N. J.—Pupils cannot be compelled to apologize to their teacher, according to a ruling of the state department of education.

The decision is a victory for Edward Boyd, a sixth grade grammar school pupil in Bergenfield, accused of disrespect to his teacher, Miss Gertrude Mbrton. He refused to apologize. The board of education ordered him dismissed until he should make the amends the teacher demanded.

According to Assistant State Commissioner of Education John Enright, teachers or boards of education cannot make a rule providing for the enforcement of an apology. There is abundant authority for a board of education to suspend a pupil if there is good cause, he said.

The error of the Bergenfield board was in suspending young Boyd indefinitely. If the suspension was made for a definite time the state department would uphold it.

Pupils should be suspended for defiance of authority and bad conduct, but temporary dismissals should be based upon the primary cause and not because of the refusal of a pupil to apologize.

Young Boyd had been out of school since November 21. Believing he has been punished sufficiently, the assistant commissioner ordered him reinstated in his class.

FEET IN EDUCATIONAL TEST.

Pedometer on Fair Co-Eds' Ankles to Regulate Their Marks.

Madison, Wis.—University of Wisconsin girl students in the domestic economy course will henceforth earn high marks for "shop work" with their feet. This is the newest wrinkle in pedagogy.

The men in the engineering course have their shop or laboratory work in the university shops. The girls in domestic economy have their shop work in a home cottage, and the test of their efficiency in their practice work is the pedometer.

The girl who does her work with the fewest steps is given class markings accordingly. The university, meanwhile, is experimenting to learn how many miles a woman walks daily in her kitchen work.

BABY ESCAPES TRAIN.

It Passes Nearly Over Her, but She Is Only Slightly Hurt.

Des Moines, Ia.—While playing on a railway right of way the two-year-old daughter of Mrs. G. O. Mills fell sprawling in the middle of the track, and half the length of a passenger train passed over her before it could be brought to a stop.

The train crew rushed to the spot where the child was lying, expecting to find her badly mangled body. Blood was streaming from the infant's face, but on being rushed to the hospital it was discovered that a slight flesh wound on the left cheek was the only injury she sustained.

Cats Keep Mariner Awake.

Aberdeen, Wash.—A story of three sleepless nights at sea caused by the howling of eleven cats is told by Captain O. Johnson of the steamer Grays Harbor, which arrived recently with an assortment of stowaway felines. He has been trying without success to get rid of the cats since his arrival here, but every time he succeeds in getting them ashore they find their way back to the ship.

Kansas City Stock Letter.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Jan. 22.—Cattle receipts were light after Tuesday, last week, and prices closed the week stronger on all kinds. Receipts were 13,000 today, and prices steady to strong; nothing choice here; top, $10.75. Hogs gained 25 to 35 cents last week; steady today; top, $11.05; receipts, 13,500. Sheep and lambs sold steady at the advance made last week; lambs, $14.10; ewes, $10.20; receipts, 11,000.

Beef Cattle.

Prime steers were lacking today, and commission men say that kind is going to show some speed in the near future. The best here today brought $10.80; pretty good pulp fed steers at $10.40 and $10.50. Short fed and warmed up cattle sold at $9.00 to $10.00, including some pulpers at $9.50, weighing 1,100 lbs., and Western hay feds at $9.75, with part of a load at $9.75. Cows had less pep today, but did not lose anything, best heavy ones up to $9.00; canners, $5.25 to $5.85; bulls, $6.50 to $8.50; heifers up to $10.75; veal calves up to $12.00. A good many cattle have gone on feed in the last six weeks, and commission men say the run of short fed and warmed up steers may be fairly liberal, with some slump in the price.

Stockers and Feeders.

Feeders continue to get the strongest call, sales of regular feeders, mainly from $8.00 to $9.00, and frequently above $9.00 up to $9.50, with weighty, fleshy steers for a short feed up to $10.45 last week. Stock steers find a ready outlet at $7.00 to $8.50, a few cattle under $7.00, and fancy ones above $8.50; some good red 700 pound steers this morning at $7.50; cattle a dime lower than last week. Cows and heifers sell at $5.35 to $7.50; fancy bred stock heifers last week up to $8.75.

Hogs.

Receipts continue to run slightly less than corresponding time a year ago, and the market grows stronger, up to 25 to 30 cents last week. Quality is better, and range of sales is getting pretty narrow; bulk today $10.75 to $11.00; best heavies $11.05. A feature today was a car of 213 lb. pea fed Colorado hogs at $11.00; only a nickle under the top, and four loads of same class at $10.70, 197 lbs. Light hogs sold up to $10.85. Actions of buyers denote that they need hogs, although stocks of meat are greater than at this time last year. Increase of average weights signifies that owners are not rushing their hogs to market, but there is doubtless a disposition to ship as soon as a decent finish has been reached.

Sheep and Lambs.

Regular advances followed each other from day to day last week, and prices are about steady today at the extreme top reached, $14.10 paid for lambs, $10.20 for ewes, $10.25 for wethers. Pea fed lambs lacking a degree of finish sold at $13.75 to $13.95, and feeding lambs bring up to $13.50. Receipts are moderate on the whole, the Northern feed lots not having started to market in any degree as yet.

TAKE A FARM INVENTORY

Merchants Find Them Indispensable For Proper Conduct of Business —Why Not You?

Look over the advertisements in your local paper during January. Most of the merchants are advertising sales, aren't they. Those sales mean that the merchants are preparing for another year of business. They have either taken an inventory or are about to take one. Merchants find inventories indispensable in intelligent conduct of their business.

The inventory is just as indispensable to the intelligent conduct of a farm business as it is to the merchant. In a general way the farmer can tell whether or not he has made money during the year, but unless some form of inventory is made or some form of records kept, no farmer can tell the exact status of his business. The inventory, together with a simple system of bookkeeping will put the farm on a business basis. In this way the farmer can tell whether or not he has made money on his various transactions. By keeping records he will be able to discover the leaks in his business and remedy them. Under the usual system on the average farm there is absolutely no way of determining the earnings of the different activities.

Farmers who have not worked out a system of farm accounting may receive aid and suggestions by addressing the College of Agriculture, Columbia, Missouri.

CRAIG CASE TODAY

LAWYERS COMMENCE ARGUMENTS ABOUT 3 O'CLOCK.

ONE WITNESS FOR STATE

Everett Bradshaw Told of the Alleged Offense—Craig Witnesses Denied He gave Away Whiskey.

The case of George Craig on a charge of violating the local option law, was on trial in circuit court today and after the examination of the main prosecuting witness, Everett Bradshaw, the defendant's attorney, Shinabargar, Blagg & Sllison, filed a demurrer, contending that no offense was committed under the local option law in giving away a drink during a social visit or intercourse unless there be some designs, pecuniary profit or gain in so doing.

Prosecuting Attorney Sawyers argued for the state that the cases read by the defense were not applicable to this case and that the defendant, Craig, and his party were on a political mission at the time.

The court overrulled the demurrer.

Everett Bradshaw on the stand told of Craig, Guy Gray, John Workman and Jim Palmer, colored, in a Ford car stopping to talk to Joe Workman and himself, who were hauling lumber for a bridge in the Toad Hollow vicinity, near Clearmont. The witness said Joe Workman inquired if the party had any drinking whiskey and that Guy Gray said "Come and see for yourself," and whereupon Joe Workman went over to the car and George Craig handed Workman a bottle of whiskey and that Workman took a drink. Bradshaw testified that he was offered a drink but refused as he was not a drinking man. Bradshaw told what brand of whiskey was offered. The witness said the party were out working for John Dowden, then a candidate for sheriff.

As the alleged offense took place only a few before election, many charges of it being done for political reasons were made at that time. Mr. Bradshaw stated on the witness stand that Elmer Moberly, the Democratic candidate for sheriff, had never talked to him about it neither had he, Bradshaw, talked to Moberly relative to the matter.

E. E. Williams, James B. Robinson, Mayor Arthur S. Robey, S. G. Gillam and S. H. Kemp were character witnesses for Craig.

Guy Gray, a member of the party, said he was out working for John Dowden and denied that Craig offer-

REPORT NOT CONFIRMED

Brazilian Ministry of Marines Can Find No Evidence of Sinking of German Raider.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Rio De Janiero, Jan .23.—It was announced by the Brazilian Ministry of Marines today that there was no confirmation of the Pernambuco report that a German raider had been sunk off the Brazilian coast by the British cruiser Glasgow. It was reported from Montevideo that a steamship believed to be a German auxiliary cruiser had been seen off Bahia, Argentina, steaming southward at full speed. If the report were true, it is possible that the cruiser was trying to escape into the Pacific. News from Marahano says that four merchantmen were seen cruising together in the Atlantic, whether captive or cruising together for protection, is not known.

COMPANION IS INJURED

George Boatman's Leg Broken In Two Places in Same Accident Which Happened This Morning.

Sam Broyles, 21 years old, of Hopkins, was killed and George Boatman, 43 years old, also of Hopkins was injured when a tree which they were felling, this morning caught them before they could get out of the way.

Mr. Broyles and Mr. Boatman were engaged in procuring lumber for a firm shipping logs out of Hopkins. They were cutting walnut logs on the Mord Wilson farm, about 7 miles southeast of Hopkins. When one of the large trees started to fall they failed to get out of the way. Mr. Broyles was internally injured and died while being taken to Sheridan. One of Mr. Boatman's legs was broken in two places.

Mr. Broyles is the son of Mrs. Nora Broyles of Hopkins. He is also survived by two brothers, John and "Jenks" Broyles at Hopkins, by a brother, Ernest, in Kansas City and a sister, Mrs. Frank Bonham of Hopkins.

Increased Violence In Fighting Along the Dvina — Bavarians Make Raid on British Trenches.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—Artillery duels of increased violence are taking place along the Dvina River on the eastern front, according to the war office reports. Northwest of Ammentier, on the Franco-Belgian frontier reconnoitering detachments of Bavarians entered the British trenches and returned with a number of prisoners and machine guns.

The English advance on the western front has been repulsed, because all of their artillery activity has been hindered by a deep fog. The German allies are again driving forward toward Russia on the northern boundary of the Rumanian province of Dobrudja. It is announced that the Bulgars have forced a crossing at the southern end of the Danube, and have held the northern bank against all counter attacks. Artillery activity is increasing in the Carpathians.

BAPTIST RECEPTION

CONGREGATION ASSEMBLES TO HONOR REV. AND MRS. WILES.

FRUIT SHOWER GIVEN

Mention Also Made of Departure of Davis, Meek, Andrews, and Hempstead Families.

A large crowd attended the reception given at the parlors of the Baptist church last night in honor of Rev. and Mrs. T. H. Wiles. The parlors were made beautiful with ferns and potted plants, and bright colored carnations centered the many individual tables throughout the rooms. The Rev. and Mrs. Wiles received the guests as they arrived. Prof. E. L. Harrington in behalf of the program committee, together with Mrs. Eugene Ogden and Mrs. W. A. Burris, then took charge of the program. Music was furnished by the church orchestra and afterward Prof. Harrington gave a welcoming address to which Rev. Wiles gave a hearty response. Senator Craig gave an impressive talk on the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Davis, for their new home in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Davis will be greatly missed in the church circles of which they were very prominent, Mr. Davis being superintendent of the Sunday School. Mr. Davis responded in an interesting way to Senator Craig's talk.

Dr. Karl Malotte spoke in behalf of Lee Meek who leaves soon with his parents to make his home in Colorado. Mr. Meek, although comparatively young, was president of the B. P. Y. U., and also secretary of the Sunday School and was very successful in that work.

An address was made by Professor Harrington in regard to the departure of Mr. G. W. Hempstead and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Andrews and family. Following this was a song, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," after which was a reading, "The Whistling Boy," by Miss Elizabeth Sobbing. Mr. Wagers, Mr. Henderson, Mr. Bird and Mr. Wilkerson, members of the Normal quartette, sang, and this was followed by a piano duet by Misses Holmes and Ozenberger. Mrs. Ray Davis sang a beautiful and impressive solo with Miss Dorothy McDonald at the piano.

Mrs. G. B. Holmes in behalf of the women of the church presented Mrs. Wiles with a shower of fruit, preserves and pickles making a very appropriate presentation speech.

The orchestra closed the program with music.

After the program a social session was held and most elaborate refreshments were served. Mrs. LeGrand Gann and Mrs. Karl Malotte presided at the serving tables and were assisted in serving by Mrs. Speirs and Mrs. Will Everhart and a bevy of young girls.

The state university is trimmed down from $1,340,862 to $1,064,500, a cut of $276,362. The committee commends the work of Dr. A. Ross Hill of the university by saying:

Here are some of the important cuts in the amounts asked by the institutions:

School for the blind, from $161,250 to $103,250; sanitarium at Mount Vernon, from $521,000 to $264,600; Rolla School of Mines, from $256,750 to $214,750; colony for feeble minded, from $436,250 to $356,050; board of agriculture, from $209,650 to $187,000; state fair, from $115,850 to $79,350; deaf and dumb institute, from $381,300 to $294,900; Warrensburg Normal, from $187,479 to $165,782; Springfield Normal from $326,000 to $203,500; Cape Girardeau Normal from $286,916 to $227,916; Kirksville Normal, from $221,748 to $219,748; Confederate Home from $128,740 to $115,150; industrial home for incorrigible negro girls, from $215,553 to $116,003.

President Richardson and George N. Gromer of the Board of Regents to See Committee Thursday.

President Ira Richardson of the Northwest Normal School and W. A. Rickenbrode, secretary of the Normal, returned yesterday evening from a meeting of the Board of Regents, held at St. Joseph. All members of the board were present excepting W. A. Blagg, who was unable to attend because of legal business.

The Normal will have a hearing before the committee on appropriations at Jefferson City Thursday evening. The school will be represented by Mr. Richardson and by George N. Gromer, vice-president of the Board of Regents, whose home is in Pattonsburg.

John C. Lanning of near Hopkins, returned Sunday from Jamestown, N. D., where he purchased a farm of 320 acres. Mr. Lanning has sold his farm near Hopkins and expects to move his family to the farm purchased in North Dakota. Mr. and Mrs. Lanning will go to their new home about March 15.

Senate Considers Taking Day Off to Discuss President's Peace Note Europe Received It Week Ago.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, Jan. 23.—Early editions of London papers today adopted a cautious tone in commenting on Wilson's speech. It was generally agreed that the document called for the deepest analysis before its meaning could be determined. Some editorials there note praise; others are disposed to think that he spoke too soon.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The president's address to the senate yesterday will be subject to a free-for-all debate tomorrow. This was assured when Senator Cummins introduced a resolution to set aside January 29 for a general debate on the president's peace proposition. Senator Stone objected to this and demanded that it be given immediate consideration.

The Cummins resolution provides that each be allowed to speak for an hour on the peace address. Senator Stone objected to this and said that to set aside a week merely to hear speeches was out of the question when there was so much to do.

Awaiting Real Effects.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—With the president's astounding statement now known all over the world, the administration today is "sitting tight" to know what the real effect is going to be.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The address President Wilson made to the Senate yesterday was sent to American diplomats in the belligerent countries last Monday, two days before the United States received the notes from Arthur J. Balfour, Great Britain's secretary of state for foreign affairs, supplementing the Entente reply to Mr. Wilson's peace note, and the same day that the German foreign minister, Dr. Alfred Zimmerman, declared it was impossible for the Central Powers to openly lay down their terms.

POLITICAL NOTES.

At a meeting of the Democratic state committee held in Jefferson City last week a resolution was adopted providing for the establishment of permanent Democratic headquarters in the State Capitol. Doc. Brydon, was selected to have charge of the work of preliminary organization for the campaign of 1918.

Judge Lamm probably realizes now that one is never too old to learn. He has allowed himself to be used by Jep Howe and Otto Stifel, discredited Republican politicians in St. Louis, to pull their chestnuts out of the fire, and has suffered accordingly in the public esteem in which he was formerly held.

Th Missouri Legislature has made a good start. It is Democratic in both branches and has outlined a thorough progressive and practical program.

Governor Gardner was inaugurated in the open, emblematic of the policy of his administration. He promises to take the people of the State entirely into his confidence in forming matters of legislation.

The four corner stones of the Gardner administration are to be, more revenue, better schools, better roads and better community life.

A certain millionaire brewer of St. Louis who backed the candidacy of Judge Lamm and bet a large sum upon his election, has learned anew the adage that "experience is a severe and expensive teacher."

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

St. Joseph Grain Exchange Remembers the Late B. Raleigh Martin With Written Resolutions.

The following resolutions of respect were adopted by the St. Joseph Grain Exchange in memory of the late B. Raleigh Martin, who died in Chicago last Monday:

Whereas, The death of B. Raleigh Martin removes from our midst an able champion of St. Joseph's commercial advancement, and

Whereas, His activity and helpful assistance will be a distinct loss to this community and particularly to this organization, and

Whereas, While not a member of or materially interested in this association, he has always given generously and freely of his time and talent, whenever called upon, and,

Whereas, His splendid oratory and kindly personality has so greatly helped us on many occasions, now, therefore,

Be it Resolved, That these resolutions of respect be entered upon the records of the St. Joseph Grain Exchange and that a transcript thereof be furnished to his family and also published in the St. Joseph daily papers.

Respectfully,
The St. Joseph Grain Exchange.

SOUTH TO BUY OUR STOCK

Eradication of Tick Gives Missouri Breeders New Market for Fine Herds of Pure Bred Cattle.

Northwest Missouri breeders of fine stock are looking with interest at the development of live stock interest in the south and are getting ready to meet the demand that is springing up there for purebred cattle.

The big factor in increasing the live stock industry in the south is, of course, the fact that diversified farming is taking the place of the one-crop system that relied solely on cotton for its profits and suffered periodically with the slump in the cotton market or the failure of the crops.

But it was not until the tick was eradicated and the losses from Texas fever were controlled, that the southern planter felt justified in going in heavily for purebred cattle and the consequent chances for heavy losses when the tick got in its work. But that menace has been largely removed now, and the southern planter can turn live stock man without this danger.

Missouri with its fine herds of Herefords, Shorthorns, and Aberdeen-Anguses, is especially interested in this new market for its surplus stock, and the south already, having heard of the fame of these big herds, is looking toward them as a source of cattle for the foundation of its own herds.

WILSON HOLDS AGE RECORD

President Is Oldest Executive Since Inauguration of Buchanan in 1857 —Roosevelt Youngest President.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, Jan. 22. — President Wilson is the oldest executive of the United States for the last sixty years. When he is inaugurated for the second time March 5, he will be 60 years old, a span of years that no president has crossed since the inauguration of Buchanan in 1857.

Incidentally, the president is one of the six oldest executives ever in the White House. Previous to 1861 the men chosen to hold the reins of the government generally reached a late period in life before their election. John Adams was 61 when inaugurated in 1797; Jackson also was 61 when first inaugurated in 1829. Benjamin Harrison was the oldest man ever chosen for the presidency, being 68 at the time of his inauguration in 1841. Taylor was 64 and Buchanan 65 respectively, when they were inaugurated.

Aside from these all presidents have been younger than Woodrow Wilson when entering the White House. This has been particularly noticeable in the last fifty years, when all have been comparatively young. Theodore Roosevelt was the youngest president ever inaugurated in this country, being 42 when he took office.

ENGLISH CUSTOMS

PEOPLE CALL FORD AUTOMOBILE "FLYING BEDSTEAD."

EVERY STREAM A RIVER

Outside and Inside of Street Cars and Busses Usually Covered With All Kinds of Advertisement.

(Vernon Nash)

Oxford:— Folks over here don't know what is meant by a "tin lizzie," but just mention a "flying bedstead," and they get you. Haven't heard the word "gasoline" since I landed. It is "motor spirit" or petrol. Steam engine trucks are more common than gas or electric. And they carry bigger loads than a railway car, usually having a large trailer behind also.

Neither have I seen an American type of milk wagon or milk bottle. Usually it is a milkmaid pushing a hand cart with two milk cans in it from which she fills the cups which maids bring to the doors. The vast majority of all horse-drawn vehicles are two-wheeled carts and the horses are stocky Shetlands.

Saloons, Not Liquor Stores.

Saloons never mean liquor stores. Somebody's arms as The King's Arms, The Prince of Wales' Arms, or the Duke's Arms, is the usual name for a public house or an inn serving drinks. It means "Rustication," which is Oxonian for "Expulsion," to be found in a public bar. But the student may have all the liquor he pleases in his own room and most of the colleges serve it as a part of the evening meal. I am pleased to say that Oriel followed the example of the King and went on the water wagon.

"I'm sorry," or just "Sorry," is the usual expression for "excuse me." "Beg Pardon," is used only to mean that a hearer has not understood what was said. "Excuse me," is used only to withdraw from a room. If we ask an English student to pass something at the table he will say, "Sorry," meaning that he is mortified not to have noticed that you neded some of the article.

Butter Not on Dinner Menu.

Butter is never served with dinner, which is the evening meal, and the only one eaten in common. The bread is served in great, repulsive chunks about two cubic inches in size. Their table manners would be considered very rude in America. Their favorite desert is a compote which Miller, of Kansas, described as a liquid sandwich. It is always attacked with a fork in one hand and a large spoon in the other.

"I can't stand plain water and plain women," is a common vaudeville witticism. The English believe the former but not the latter. Every American will swear that according tb his judgment, he has not seen a girl or woman yet who would even be called pretty, much less beautiful. As for the water, the English seem to think that no one wants to drink it. The trains have no water coolers. One never sees a public drinking fountain and water is seldom served with meals unless asked for.

Sanitation Neglected.

Prevention of cruelty to animals is well enforced but none of the usual provisions for man's safety are seen. Roller towels are everywhere and flies would take the country, were it not for the fact that it is kept so clean that they have no chance to breed in any quantities. One American bought a fly-swatter with him and it was as much of a curiosity as a pair of Chinese chopsticks at home. They never heard of fly paper.

Few men wear belts but the tailors at Oxford have learned the art of belt loops and tight-top trousers from Americans. The word "pants," is unknown as meaning trousers. When the wearing of a dress suit made suspenders necessary last week, I went into a shop to buy some. I asked for suspenders and was shown sock supporters, braces for the back, and various other kinds of bodily harness in turn. Finally I had to use signs as much as if in Russia. "Oh, you mean braces," he said, and I had learned the English for "galluses."

Quill Pens Used.

Quill pens are still used very generally over the University. Only letters leaving the country are censored. Few pictures or post cards are permitted to get by. Full value is given in a book of stamps because ads of every kind are scattered through the little book. The post office is not inclosed as in America but has merely a wire railing between the clerks and the patrons.

The outside and inside of street cars and busses, double-deckers usually are always covered with the ads. Yet America is too commercial! One of the most common of these signs is for pills, reading, "Hull's Helpers for Healthy Homes." Tickets read, "available" to a certain point. No stream in this country seems too small to be called a river. The Thames at Oxford is only thirty feet wide. It is called the Isis here although it is the Thames both above and below the city.

Tires Are "Tyres."

Tires are "tyres," and I was really glad when one blew out recently as it gave us this gem on the direction for repairs: "When this gum is tacky enough, the two surfaces of rubber will amalgamate." No English bicycles have the coaster brake but are stopped by rubber pads on each side of the steel rims being applied from the handlebars. Two and three speed machines are common, a little lever on the cross bar shifting the gears in the rear axle. There are at least half as many bicycles in Oxford as there are persons.

British brakemen on passenger trains are called guards. When a typical English accent called out of a window: "Oh, Guard, Guard," we discovered a new and choice expletive. It sounded for all the world as if the person were calling upon the Deity.

probably be the largest in the history of the High School. Thirty-three students are enrolled.

The total enrollment in the public schools is approximately 920 of 925, which is a slight increase over last year. An innovation in the grammar school curriculum is the offering of manual training and sewing to the boys and girls of the eighth grade. The work will be under the direction of Miss Carpenter and Mrs. Schultz of the High School. This is something that has not been done for some years, and the organiaztion of the classes will be an event looked forward to with interest by the pupils concerned.

An interesting fact in connection with the grades made by the High School students was given by J. M. McDonald, superintendent of schools. Each student in High School averages four subjects and with 220 students approximately 880 grades are given. Of these 880 grades, 46 failing grades, 24 conditions and 66 E's for excellent were given. Only 5 per cent of the total grades given were failures, which is considered a normal condition by the leading educators.

MAY RAISE MOTOR CAR TAX

Missouri Senate Bill by Senator Buford Would Give More Money For Good Roads Work.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Jefferson City, Jan. 23.—The administration motor car bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Buford of Reynolds county and will be presented in the House this week. The main feature of this measure is the increase it provides in fees for registering motor cars with the secretary of state. In many instances these are doubled. Every motor cycle must pay $5 a year. Electrics must pay $5 a year and be subjected to a fee of forty cents for each horsepower. All other motor cars, except electrics, shall pay forty cents a horsepower, or fraction thereof. Motor cars other than those using pneumatic tires, and used for commercial purposes, shall pay at the rate of forty cents a horsepower and these additional fees: Weighing under 4,000 pounds, $5; weighing 6,000 pounds and under 10,000, unloaded, $15; weighing 10,000 pounds and under 20,000 pounds, unloaded, $20.

For all motor vehicles not enumerated, $5. The chauffeur's license remains at the old fee, $1.50.

All the moneys arising from the motor car fees are to go to the good roads fund.

MEAT ON MISSOURI FARMS

State Board of Agriculture Finds That Members of Farm Family Consume A Hog Each, Annually.

Replies made to the Missouri State Board of Agriculture as to the amount of meat consumed by the average farm family show that 884 pounds of pork are consumed annually. With 5.6 persons as an average family, this is approximately 158 pounds per person—a hog to a man. In order to encourage a larger number of farmers to make a sufficient supply of meat for their own use, and possibly to have some to sell, the Board of Agriculture established the Missouri Farmers' Ham and Bacon Show. The Fifth annual show, recently held, was most successful. All sections of the state were represented in the entries, and the meat was of a very superior quality. A representative of the United States Department of Agriculture has just asked for detailed information as to how the Missouri Show is conducted. Similar inquiries have come from other states. Evidently, the plan of the farmer "living at home," is proving popular.

urge the United States to enter a world federation to guarantee peace. Not until word had been received from the diplomats abroad that the copy had been received did President Wilson arrange to make the address to the Senate.

There is nothing in the address, or in the instructions accompanying its presentation that will of itself necessitate an answer, according to the administration view, but some response nevertheless is expected from both groups of belligerents.

A "Leak" Was Feared.

Confidential information that the Entente reply to President Wilson had convinced Germany that another step by her would be unwise, convinced American officials that unless the United States gave a further opening the whole peace movement would come to an end. The address to the Senate was taken as a possible means of avoiding that result.

Fear of a "leak" surrounding the sending of the address abroad prompted such secrecy as has seldom been equaled in the state department. Only President Wilson, Secretary Lansing and the men who transmitted it are known definitely to have been aware of it.

Both French and British ambassadors denied any knowledge of its existence even after it had been delivered.

What They Expect.

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing anticipate the present move will provoke indignation in the foreign press, much as was the case with the President's original note of December 18. They feel that in a statement of position as full as the President's, both sides may feel they have been unjustly attacked, and as a result they look for a bitter outburst in the more violent press.

The greatest confidence is felt here however, that the belligerent peoples want peace, and that the chief obstacle to an early peace is the uncertainty as to whether that peace will be permanent. It is believed that as soon as people abroad see in the American action a possible means of making that peace permanent, any first reaction to the address will disappear, and serious and friendly discussion of it will follow as followed the original peace note.

It Amazed Washington.

The effect of the President's address here was to leave congress, all official quarters and the foreign diplomats amazed and bewildered. Immediately there arose a sharp division of opinion over the propriety as well as the substance of the President's proposal.

"Startling," "Staggering," "Astounding;" "The noblest utterance that has fallen from human lips since the Declaration of Independence," were among the expressions of senators.

FOR GAME COMMISSIONER

Alexander Gibb, Treasurer of Atchison County, is Candidate for Appointment to that Office.

The friends of Alexander Gibb are pleased to hear that he is out for Game and Fish Commissioner. Mr. Gibb is treasurer of Atchison County.

No better man could be named for the place. Governor Gardner has drawn to himself the hearts of thousands of people by the announced determination to consult only the good of the service in making appointments. If he shall adhere to that rule in selecting a Game and Fish Commissioner it is our confident prediction that Gibb will be the man. For about ten years he has been the treasurer of Atchison county, and has shown himself to be capable, honest and efficient. He has inherited the traits of his Scotch-Irish ancestry. He is an earnest, thoroughgoing, industrious man. We wish him success.

EXCHANGE SYSTEM FOUNDED.

New York City Has More Than 190,000 Impressions—Bureau In Charge of Inspector Faurot—Every Human Being Has a Distinct and Individual Mark.

New York.—The work of the bureau of criminal identification at police headquarters has been greatly enlarged and brought up to date. This is especially true of the finger print department, which today is recognized by the police as the best and surest method of making criminal identifications. Although the Bertillon system is still in use by the department, it has to a great extent been superseded by the finger print system.

The department has a collection of more than 190,000 finger impressions of individuals. These prints came from all over the United States, Canada and from many European cities. Commissioner Woods some time ago sent notices to the police headquarters of every city in the country suggesting that copies of their finger prints be forwarded here. In the notices it was stated that the department possesses a very large collection of records of criminals who could be located only by means of finger prints; that these came from all over the world and that if its records were forwarded the department would offer its finger print service to them without expense. In many cases these notices were sent to the sheriffs of what is popularly known as "one horse towns." In this manner the department's finger print bureau has become a sort of clearing house for other police departments in the country. The bureau is in charge of Inspector Joseph A. Faurot.

The impressions are classified according to "whirls," "loops," "arches" or "deltas." The prints are carefully filed and indexed according to their characteristics. In a large room in the basement of headquarters the actual finger prints are taken. Printer's ink is spread by a roller on the surface of a glass table. The ink is smeared on the fingers of the prisoner, and the finger impressions are then taken down on paper. All of the fingers of both hands of the prisoner are taken.

The police after exhaustive studies have been able to learn much about finger prints. The system is based on the fact that every human being has a distinct and individual impression which differs from that of any other person. It has been ably demonstrated that no two finger prints are alike.

Grandmother a Pupil.

Bakersfield, Cal.—Mrs. Mary Brundage, the seventy-five-year-old widow of the late Superior Judge Bernard Brundage, a pioneer of Kern county, was registered as freshman in the Kern county high school and will study the Spanish language. Mrs. Brundage has several grandchildren attending the high school at which she is registered.

EGGS TOO HIGH EVEN FOR A JUGGLING ACT

Chicago.—A magician who does the "famous egg trick" in vaudeville packed his trunks and walked out of the bill at a Chicago continuous show. The high price of eggs drove him to it. The illusionist breaks eighteen eggs at every performance. As long as he was "doing two a day" it wasn't so bad. But when he learned he had to appear at seven daily turns he counted up and found that at the present price of eggs he would owe himself money at the end of the week.

ALBERT T. PATRICK TO WED FOR SECOND TIME

Rich Girl to Become Noted Former Prisoner's Bride.

Tulsa, Okla. — Albert T. Patrick, wealthy oil man, who was sentenced three times to die in Sing Sing prison on a murder charge, announced here his engagement to Miss Mildred West, daughter of a Tulsa oil operator. They will be married in June.

Albert T. Patrick was pardoned by Governor Dix of New York on Nov. 28, 1912, after ten years in prison, following his conviction for the murder of William Marsh Rice, a Texas millionaire, in New York city. He was the chief beneficiary under the will of Rice. Sentenced to die three times, the legal fight he made for freedom was one of the most remarkable in the criminal annals of the country.

When Patrick was convicted in March, 1902, Mrs. Addie M. Francis, to whom he was engaged, proved her faith in him by marrying him in the Tombs prison in New York. She worked tirelessly from that time until he was freed to interest prominent men in his behalf, and her brother, John T. Milliken of St. Louis, spent a fortune to gain Patrick's liberty.

For ten years Mrs. Patrick lived within sight of the walls of Sing Sing that she could be near her husband and comfort him. The day after he was pardoned they began their long delayed honeymoon, going first to St. Louis and later to Tulsa. A year later Mrs. Patrick, worn out by years of nervous strain, died.

TEACHER FAILS TRYING TO FORCE AN APOLOGY

Department of Education Holds Student Cannot Be Made to Admit Wrong.

Trenton, N. J.—Pupils cannot be compelled to apologize to their teacher, according to a ruling of the state department of education.

The decision is a victory for Edward Boyd, a sixth grade grammar school pupil in Bergenfield, accused of disrespect to his teacher, Miss Gertrude Morton. He refused to apologize. The board of education ordered him dismissed until he should make the amends the teacher demanded.

According to Assistant State Commissioner of Education John Enright, teachers or boards of education cannot make a rule providing for the enforcement of an apology. There is abundant authority for a board of education to suspend a pupil if there is good cause, he said.

The error of the Bergenfield board was in suspending young Boyd indefinitely. If the suspension was made for a definite time the state department would uphold it.

Pupils should be suspended for defiance of authority and bad conduct, but temporary dismissals should be based upon the primary cause and not because of the refusal of a pupil to apologize.

Young Boyd had been out of school since November 21. Believing he has been punished sufficiently, the assistant commissioner ordered him reinstated in his class.

FEET IN EDUCATIONAL TEST.

Pedometer on Fair Co-Eds' Ankles to Regulate Their Marks.

Madison, Wis.—University of Wisconsin girl students in the domestic economy course will henceforth earn high marks for "shop work" with their feet. This is the newest wrinkle in pedagogy.

The men in the engineering course have their shop or laboratory work in the university shops. The girls in domestic economy have their shop work in a home cottage, and the test of their efficiency in their practice work is the pedometer.

The girl who does her work with the fewest steps is given class markings accordingly. The university, meanwhile, is experimenting to learn how many miles a woman walks daily in her kitchen work.

BABY ESCAPES TRAIN.

It Passes Nearly Over Her, but She Is Only Slightly Hurt.

Des Moines, Ia.—While playing on a railway right of way the two-year-old daughter of Mrs. G. O. Mills fell sprawling in the middle of the track, and half the length of a passenger train passed over her before it could be brought to a stop.

The train crew rushed to the spot where the child was lying, expecting to find her badly mangled body. Blood was streaming from the infant's face, but on being rushed to the hospital it was discovered that a slight flesh wound on the left cheek was the only injury she sustained.

Cats Keep Mariner Awake.

Aberdeen, Wash.—A story of three sleepless nights at sea caused by the howling of eleven cats is told by Captain O. Johnson of the steamer Grays Harbor, which arrived recently with an assortment of stowaway felines. He has been trying without success to get rid of the cats since his arrival here, but every time he succeeds in getting them ashore they find their way back to the ship.

KILLS PAIN

Kansas City Stock Letter.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Jan. 22.—Cattle receipts were light after Tuesday, last week, and prices closed the week stronger on all kinds. Receipts were 13,000 today, and prices steady to strong; nothing choice here; top, $10.75. Hogs gained 25 to 35 cents last week; steady today; top, $11.05; receipts, 13,500. Sheep and lambs sold steady at the advance made last week; lambs, $14.10; ewes, $10.20; receipts, 11,000.

Beef Cattle.

Prime steers were lacking today, and commission men say that kind is going to show some speed in the near future. The best here today brought $10.80; pretty good pulp fed steers at $10.40 and $10.50. Short fed and warmed up cattle sold at $9.00 to $10.00, including some pulpers at $9.50, weighing 1,109 lbs., and Western hay feds at $9.75, with part of a load at $9.75. Cows had less pep today, but did not lose anything, best heavy ones up to $8.00; canners, $5.25 to $5.85; bulls, $6.50 to $8.50; heifers up to $10.75; veal calves up to $12.00. A good many cattle have gone on feed in the last six weeks, and commission men say the run of short fed and warmed up steers may be fairly liberal, with some slump in the price.

Stockers and Feeders.

Feeders continue to get the strongest call, sales of regular feeders, mainly from $8.00 to $9.00, and frequently above $9.00 up to $9.50, with weighty, fleshy steers for a short feed up to $10.45 last week. Stock steers find a ready outlet at $7.00 to $8.50, a few cattle under $7.00, and fancy ones above $8.50; some good red 700 pound steers this morning at $7.50; cattle a dime lower than last week. Cows and heifers sell at $5.35 to $7.50; fancy bred stock heifers last week up to $8.75.

Hogs.

Receipts continue to run slightly less than corresponding time a year ago, and the market grows stronger, up to 25 to 30 cents last week. Quality is better, and range of sales is getting pretty narrow; bulk today $10.75 to $11.00; best heavies $11.05. A feature today was a car of 213 lb. pea fed Colorado hogs at $11.00; only a nickle under the top, and four loads of same class at $10.70, 197 lbs. Light hogs sold up to $10.85. Actions of buyers denote that they need hogs, although stocks of meat are greater than at this time last year. Increase of average weights signifies that owners are not rushing their hogs to market, but there is doubtless a disposition to ship as soon as a decent finish has been reached.

Sheep and Lambs.

Regular advances followed each other from day to day last week, and prices are about steady today at the extreme top reached, $14.10 paid for lambs, $10.20 for ewes, $10.25 for wethers. Pea fed lambs lacking a degree of finish sold at $13.75 to $13.95, and feeding lambs bring up to $13.50. Receipts are moderate on the whole, the Northern feed lots not having started to market in any degree as yet.

TAKE A FARM INVENTORY

Merchants Find Them Indispensable For Proper Conduct of Business —Why Not You?

Look over the advertisements in your local paper during January. Most of the merchants are advertising sales, aren't they. Those sales mean that the merchants are preparing for another year of business. They have either taken an inventory or are about to take one. Merchants find inventories indispensable in intelligent conduct of their business.

The inventory is just as indispensable to the intelligent conduct of a farm business as it is to the merchant. In a general way the farmer can tell whether or not he has made money during the year, but unless some form of inventory is made or some form of records kept, no farmer can tell the exact status of his business. The inventory, together with a simple system of bookkeeping will put the farm on a business basis. In this way the farmer can tell whether or not he has made money on his various transactions. By keeping records he will be able to discover the leaks in his business and remedy them. Under the usual system on the average farm there is absolutely no way of determining the earnings of the different activities.

Farmers who have not worked out a system of farm accounting may receive aid and suggestions by addressing the College of Agriculture, Columbia, Missouri.
